

Taking an unvaccinated puppy outside

An unvaccinated puppy, or a puppy that has only had their first injection, doesn't have any protection against xx parvovirus or the other diseases we vaccinate against. Your puppy will be safe to go out for a walk and meet other dogs 1-2 weeks after they complete their first vaccination course, until then:

- Home and garden. Your puppy is safe to go into your garden as long as no unvaccinated dogs have visited recently.
- Public places. You can take your puppy out into public but make sure you carry them and don't put them down onto the ground
- Puppy classes. As long as your puppy is healthy, it's okay to enrol them in a puppy class. The benefits far outweigh the very small risk of catching parvovirus from another puppy.
