

kitten/cat with regular vaccinations throughout life. Don't let your kitten go outside or mix with other cats until they has been vaccinated – FPV can survive in the environment for several months. If your cat has been diagnosed with FPV, don't let them mix with other cats until they are 100% healthy again.

Cost

Treatment for FPV can become very expensive, especially if they need intensive care in a veterinary hospital. It's very important to speak openly to your vet about your finances, the cost of treatment, as well as what you think is right for your cat. There are often several treatment options so if one doesn't work for you and your pet then the vet may be able to offer another.

Consider insuring your cat as soon as you get them, before any signs of illness start. This will ensure you have all the support you need to care for them. Remember, you can prevent illness such as FPV by keep your cat up to date with their vaccinations.
