

- Prevent your pet from causing further damage to their wound by using a buster collar, body suit or a protective sock.

Monitor for infection

- Signs of infection include heat, itching, swelling, discharge and redness.
- Take your pet to the vet if you are concerned their wound is becoming infected, or if it hasn't healed within a few days. They may need antibiotics or further treatment.

Published: April 2020