

- Breathing difficulties
- Broken bones
- Wounds
- Heavy bleeding
- Call your vet if you are concerned and don't feel confident in moving your pet. Your vet will be able to give you advice and tell you what to do next and if necessary, might be able to send someone to help you.

4. Support your pet

- As a rough guide, if your pet weighs more than 15kg (33lbs), don't try to lift them alone, call a friend, neighbour or someone nearby to help.
- Support their head, neck and back by putting one arm under their head and shoulders and another arm under their pelvis.
- Slowly and carefully, lift your pet on to a large towel, blanket or board. If nothing else is available, a jumper or coat can be used but make sure it's strong enough to hold the full weight of your pet.

5. Move your pet

- Check the route is safe.
- Speak calmly and place a hand on your pet to reassure them.
- Hold the four corners of the blanket, board or towel, bend your knees and lift them.
- Walk slowly, don't jolt them.
- If your pet is unconscious, struggling to breathe or has a serious injury, take them to the vet ASAP - if possible, phone on the way to check they are ready for your arrival.

Published: April 2020