

weepy. Exposure keratitis is common in short nose breeds such as the Pug and Shih Tzu.

- Nasolacrimal duct problems - the nasolacrimal ducts are tubes that drain tears from the eyes. Anything affecting them can cause tears to overflow out of the eye (causing weepy eyes).

Other symptoms

Look out for, and tell your vet about any other symptoms you have noticed, such as:

- Pain \(holding their eyes closed/squinting/rubbing\)
- Redness or swelling
- Cloudy eyes
- Anything else

When to contact your vet

Contact your vet straight away if you notice anything wrong with your dog's eyes. Eyes are far too precious to leave to chance and the problem could get quickly worse if left without treatment.

Even if your dog has had weepy eyes for a while, contact your vet for an appointment to have them checked. Even if the problem has been going on for a while, there is a chance that they could have a treatable condition.

Am I eligible for PDSA veterinary treatment?

Published: June 2020